What exactly is college about? It is about the classes and the professors. The organizations and the activities. It is about the friends and the social life. It is also about the new found freedom that we gain now that we are away from home. College is a test of survival. A chance to show how responsible and mature we are or can be. It is about striving to be the best in whatever we have chosen as our major. College is about the drive to be successful and the sense of accomplishment we gain as we begin the lifelong task of

Making Our Mark

Making our mark in college is tremendously different from making our mark in high school. College is a whole new world that we must become accustomed to in a short period of time. We arrive during the first week of September and by the second week we are writing papers, making friends, learning to live with our roommates, and adjusting to the surroundings. As we make our mark with teachers and friends, we become familiar with the new routine and start to feel comfortable with our new lifestyle. Adapting to these changes can be difficult, especially for a freshman.

Sophomore year is a time for making our mark in activities and organizations. We've learned what it takes to be a college student and have decided to broaden our outlook by getting involved. Involvement helps us prepare for the future by teaching us how to be responsible. Through activities and sports we learn to be confident in what we do.

Junior and senior year is a time for final decisions and resolutions. Students must review their accomplishments and decide if they are ready to survive outside of college. If they have any doubts, they need to resolve the uncertainties that could have a negative effect upon their future.

Four years have quickly passed and now it is time to move on. As the seniors prepare for their final stage of college, we can see how they have matured into confident, successful, and eager adults ready to make their mark in science, art, education, business, sports, and society.

Emiliano Estevez, Jason Petroski, Debbie Caldwell, and Stephanie Haines take a break from the college scene to climb the steps of "Old Glory," located outside of the courthouse.

Todd Feldman of WCTV interviews Wayne Wallace, the interim director of minority affairs, on his promotions of racial unity. Wallace organized "Hands Across the Quad" in the fall of 1991.

Autumn colored leaves cover the trees that surround Recitation Hall, making a walk across campus even more beautiful on a fall afternoon.

The sisters of Delta Phi Epsilon perform a skit during the Homecoming Parade. Their theme was based on the famous Pink Panther.

Ruby Jones Hall, built in 1899, adds beauty and history to the WCU campus.

Good friends take a moment to show their smiles for the Serpentine Photographer.

A hard day of classes can seem to go on forever.

In the spirit of racial harmony on campus, Wayne Wallace has organized the coed, intramural football team, known as the "Eagles".

Warm weather promotes smiles, laughter, and spring fever!

This year's band performed music from the well known movie "Robin Hood."

Making it to class on time can be a challenge for many students.

Hollinger Field House is the home of a number of athletic events.

Making your mark begins with a few small steps to class each day.

Brian Kaufman and Colleen Cones, King and Queen for Wayne hall, make their way down the parade route with McCarthy's Queen, Carolyn Lowes.

The Quad, which is a student run organization, offers a variety of interesting articles. It also provides current information about the activities going on across campus.

Students head towards classes after a fulfilling meal at the cafeteria. An ice cream cone is the perfect way to end lunch on a warm autumn day.

Another day of classes have finally come to an end.

Students take advantage of a few moments in between classes to relax and enjoy the nice weather.

Making The Time

The life of a college student can be very busy and hectic at times. Making time to eat can even be a challenge. Becoming responsible and learning how to manage time is a key factor in surviving as a college student. Without time management a college student's life can become miserable. Planning out each day in advance helps a student to become organized. Without organization a student may miss out on activities, sporting events, free time, classes, and even sleep. Becoming organized and responsible will help anyone to become a better student at WCU. It will also help a person in the world outside of WCU.

West Chester University offers a variety of classes and organizations. It is a beautiful school that attracts many bright, young students. WCU is well known for its School of Education along with their great strengths in the sciences and music. There are a number of courses from which students can choose, everything from Archeoastronomy to Graphic Designs for the Stage. Whatever your interests are, West Chester University can definitely accommodate them.

Freinds take a break in between classes to say hello and to make plans for the weekend.

The West Chester University cheerleaders are an integral aspect of our athletic program. They can always be counted on for their spirit.

Permanent Markers

While students continued their studies here at WCU, the world around us continued to change. As some countries reunited others broke apart before our eyes. While some men lost their lives others were freed. We said goodbye to great leaders and some not so great leaders. As the year comes to a close and we look back upon our lives, we can see all the changes we have witnessed. Whether the changes were here at WCU or in the world around us we all continued to strive to make our mark.

West Chester is a very diverse campus when it comes to awareness of the world around us. WCU has hosted a number of guest speakers regarding a wide variety of topics. Two such speakers are Sally Ride and Jesse Jackson.

Sally Ride, America's first female astronaut, spoke of the experiences and memories of riding in space. Jesse Jackson spoke of issues that the American people are being faced with today. He encouraged everyone to vote for what will solve the problems facing society. He spoke of the pain in the country that leads to racism and sexism.

Beautiful fall weather promotes outdoor study habits.

The Francis Harvey Green Library is the most resourceful building on campus. While some students are inside working hard, others take a few moments to relax between classes.

The weekend is finally here as our Friday classes come to an end.

Rammy takes a moment to say hello to an enthusiastic fan. Many alumni and their families return each year to watch the parade.

Students are offered a variety of choices for all meals or snacks. One option is the deli inside Sykes, which offers a casual atmosphere.

A new addition to the campus is the "Elegant Expectations" trolley that adds a different atmosphere for breakfast or lunch.

Students head towards class after having a bite to eat at the deli in Sykes.

The Quad offers a variety of locations to sit and study or to take a break and relax before running off to another class.

Phillips Memorial is the grand archway to the campus. It is a beautiful, castle-like building that is the cornerstone of WCU.

Large oak trees line the sidewalks that lead many students to class each day.

MAKING THE Grade

Shh . . . can you please be quiet?

Some of us are trying to study. Why does it seem like I am always studying and everyone else is out having a good time? Why do I always work so hard and only get a

C, when my roommate

doesn't even crack a book and gets a B? What do you mean I have to take

chemistry, biology,

psychology, history,

effective writing, and gym,

all in the same semester,

plus labs? I hope that I will survive WCU

ACADEMICS.

The College of Arts and Sciences

The College of Arts and Sciences is the largest of the five schools in the University and it covers fourteen departments. The Department of Anthropology and Sociology offers four degree programs. They are B.A. in Anthropology, B.A. in Sociology, B.A. in Anthropology-Sociology, and B.S. in Education-Social Studies. The clubs that many students in this major join are the Anthropology Club of WCU and the Sociology Club-Delta Alpha Tau. There is also an Anthropology/Sociology honor society called Alpha Kappa Delta.

The Art Department offers two degrees, a B.A. in Art and a B.A. in Fine Arts. Both majors give students the opportunity to achieve competence in studio art, theory, and art history. The Art Association holds many events to enhance the sense of community among art students by providing cultural out of class art experiences.

The Biology Department offers six degree programs which are: B.S. in Biology, B.S. in Bio-Chem, B.S. in Biology: Clinical Microbiology, B.S. in Biology: Ecology, B.S. in Education: Biology, and B.A. in Biology. The Darlington Biological Society was organized by students and faculty to integrate activities related to the biological sciences.

The Department of Chemistry offers five degree programs which include: B.S. in Chemistry, B.S. in Chem-Bio(pre med), B.S. in Clinical Chemistry, B.S. in Forensic Chemistry, and B.S. in Education- Chemistry. The Alchemist Club is a student affiliate chapter of the American Chemical Society. The Club offers lectures, tours of nearby facilities, and free tutoring.

The Communication Department offers two degree programs. A B.A. in Speech Communications which focuses on oral communication as the core of a liberal education and can be applied to a number of areas of specialization. The B.S. in Education- Communication is for students who want Pennsylvania certification to teach communications. The Communications Club helps prepare students' communication skills and provide hands on experience in the field of communications. Pi Kappa Delta is a national honor society for students participating in competitive forensic activities. It has its base in the Forensic Society.

The English Department offers three degree programs which are a B.A. in Literature, a B.A. in Comparative Literature, and a B.S. in English- Education. The Metamorphose is a student organization of the English Department. It serves as a collective voice for those interested in English. Sigma Tau Delta is the national English honor society.

The Foreign Language Department offers a B.A. and a B.S. in Education in French, German, Latin, Russian, and Spanish. Although not required, it is strongly urged that students study abroad their junior year to develop proficiency in their languages. WCU has a French Club, a German Club, an Italian Club, a Spanish Club, and a Linguistics Club. Alpha Mu Gamma is the national collegiate foreign language honor society.

The Geology/Astronomy Department offers five degree programs which are: B.S. — Earth Science, B.S. — Earth Science/Geology, B.S. — Earth Science/Astronomy, B.S. —

Chemistry/Geology, and B.S. in Education — Earth and Space Science. WCU has a Geology Club as well as a chapter of Sigma Gamma Epsilon, a national geology and astronomy honor society.

The History Department offers a B.A. in history and a B.S. in Education-Social Studies. The goal of the history department is to explain and understand the past and help students identify our age with earlier times. The History Club offers lectures, presentations, and weekend trips with historical themes. Phi Alpha Theta is the international honor society for history which is open to any student who has at least twelve history credits with and has maintained a 3.0 or better.

The Department of Mathematics and Computer Science offers four degree programs which include: B.A. in Mathematics, B.A. in Mathematics: Computer Science, B.S. in Computer and Information Sciences, and a B.S. in Education in Mathematics. The WCU Computer Club conducts a variety of academic and social activities throughout the year and is open to all students who have an interest in computer and information sciences. Pi Mu Epsilon is the national mathematics honor society.

The Philosophy Department offers three degrees, a B.A. in Philosophy, a B.A. in Philosophy-Religious Studies, and a B.S. in Education-Social Studies. The Philosophy Club is open to all students. The club has lectures on philosophical topics by WCU faculty and visitors. The Philosophy Honor Society, Phi Sigma Tau, recognizes excellence in both philosophy and general studies.

The Physics Department offers a B.S.-Physics and B.S. in Education-Physics. It also offers a cooperative five year engineering program with Penn State. The program requires three years at WCU and two at Penn State. Society of Physics Students was formed to help students become more aware of current work being done in the engineering and physics professions. WCU also has a chapter of the national physics honor society, Sigma Pi Sigma.

The Psychology Department offers three degrees which are: B.A. in Psychology; a B.A. in Psychology, Cognitive Rehabilitation Concentration; and a B.S. in Education. The Psychology Club was established to enhance classroom instruction. The club provides a forum for in-depth presentation of current research in given areas of psychology. Psi Chi is the national honor society for psychology. Membership is by invitation for scholarly psychology students.

The Theater Department offers a B.A. in Theater which provides students with opportunities to use performing arts to gain a liberal education and to develop their talents and skills in theater. Alpha Psi Omega is an honorary fraternity to recognize excellence and dedication to the theater arts. It is open to all students regardless of their major.

Professor Spotlight

In the Department of Mathematics there is an interesting professor who has a variety of experiences under his belt. This professor, Dr. Albert E. Filano, has taught at the university since 1956. Dr. Filano received his bachelor's and master's degree at the University of Pennsylvania. He also received his Ph. D. at Penn State in 1954.

While at WCU, Dr. Filano has played many roles, besides that of a professor of mathematics. He was chairman of his department, director of the Division of Sciences and Mathematics, Interim Dean of Faculty and Academic Affairs, Vice President for Academic Affairs, and Acting President on two occasions. Dr. Filano has received many honors and awards, and has participated in various activities and memberships. One of the most interesting aspects of his life is his military experience. Dr. Filano served in WWII, completed two years of Army Air Force Service and 33 combat missions against Japan as a B-29 Radar Bombardier-Navigator and Aerial Runner. Dr. Filano was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with Three Oak Leaf Clusters.

Dr. Filano has witnessed many changes in West Chester since he started here in 1956. First, this institution has evolved from a State Teacher's College of 1800 students to the large university it is today. In 1959 the graduate program was added and in 1962 the school was renamed West Chester State College and had an arts and sciences program added. Another thing that has changed is the personal touch. Dr. Filano likes interacting with his students. He enjoys watching students grow and develop into successful adults. He especially takes pleasure in hearing from previous students — having them return and tell of their achievements.

Dr. Filano

The School of Business and Public Affairs

The School of Business and Public Affairs covers eight majors and the Interim Dean is Dr. Chris Fiorentino. The departments in this school are: accounting, criminal justice, economics, geography and planning, management, marketing, political science, and social work. The department of accounting offers a full program to prepare students for public, private, or governmental accounting. Successful completion of the program would enable you to be able to sit for the C.P.A. exam. The National Association of Accountants and The Accounting Society are two professional campus organizations that promote the interests of those who wish to pursue accounting.

The Criminal Justice major prepares students to have careers in law enforcement or pursue master's or law degrees. All students in this major must complete a one semester practicum at a criminal justice agency. These practicums give students personal and direct experience as well as allowing them to be able to put their theoretical knowledge to work. The Criminal Justice Association, Sigma Tau Omicron, is very active and this year they took a trip to Quanaco, Virginia to visit the FBI Training Academy.

The Department of Economics offers two degree programs. The B.S. in Economics focuses on a business orientation of economic analysis and the B.A. in Economics provides a societal orientation to economic analysis. One of the goals of the department is to help students obtain a basic knowledge and understanding of how business and industrial systems operate. The international honor society Alpha Epsilon of which WCU is the Omicron Delta chapter, recognizes substantial achievement in the field of economics. Students must have at least a 3.0 and have had 12 credits of economics in which they maintained a B average to maintain membership.

The Department of Geography and Planning exists to serve the general education needs of all students and provide specialized preparation for those who want to work in the geography and planning fields. There are emphases on regional courses and cultures, data analyst, and urban/regional planning. They offer two degrees, a B.A. in Geography and a B.S. in Education. They sponsor the Geography Club which sometimes has field trips, lectures, camping, canoeing, and rafting. In 1963 the Gamma Eta chapter of the national geography honor society was founded at WCU. This organization is comprised of scholarly people with a serious interest in geography.

The Department of Management's primary objective is to provide students with the skills necessary to effectively manage business and organizations. They try to teach students how to reason analytically and critically as well as make students more aware of human relations concerns in managing others. The focus of this program is to teach students the functions that will enable them to work well as a group. These functions include planning, organizing, staffing, directing, and controlling. Society for Advancement of Management (S.A.M.) is a national organization open to all students interested in the art and science of management. S.A.M. tries to link the theoretical classroom learning and the actual world of management.

The Marketing Department's objective is to prepare students for careers in business and government. They strive to create an understanding of the role marketing plays in the U.S. and foreign social and economic system as well as create an understanding of the scope and content of marketing as an apparatus of the mind used to reconcile company profitability with customer satisfaction and social responsibility. The focus of this degree program is on the activities required to get goods and services from producers to consumers. The emphasis is on consumers needs and designing strategies to meet them. The Marketing Society helps students become more aware of career opportunities in the marketing field and establishing relationships with the business community.

The Department of Political Science offers four degree programs. The B.A.-Political Science is broad and offers many subjects including U.S. government, international relations, comparative government, public administration, political behavior, and political theory. The B.A.-Public Administration is designed for students who want careers on public service. The B.A.-International Relations is for those interested in international affairs and the B.S. in Education-Social Studies is for those interested in teaching. This department sponsors the pre-law advising, The Law Society, and The Political Science Club.

The Law Society is one of the oldest organizations on campus. It tries to familiarize students with the legal structures on the federal, state, and local level as well as provide assistance for those who want to go to law school. To achieve these goals they offer LSAT workshops, moot courts, trips to law schools, and visits to Washington, D.C. to see such things as The Capitol and The Supreme Court.

The Political Science Club is for students who have an interest in government and politics. They often have panels, speakers, forums, and debates on current political topics. Pi Sigma Alpha is the national political science honor society. They for membership students of government, political science, public administration, and international relations.

The Department of Social Work combines a liberal arts foundation with the analytical framework of the social and behavioral sciences, and the principles and methods associated with the professional, generalist practice of social work. The students' theoretical training is put to use in their sophomore, junior, and senior years through field placements. The goal of the program is to allow students to develop skills and competency to practice social work. The Social Work Club was formed to reinforce and upgrade the professional role of the social worker.

Professor Spotlight

This is Dr. Joan Welch's second year at West Chester University. She has many hobbies including hiking and camping. While she likes to explore the wilderness, she enjoys the excitement of big cities. She likes trying all varieties of ethnic foods and going to the movies.

Dr. Welch did her Undergraduate work at Saint Cloud University of Minnesota. She obtained her Master's and her Ph.D. at Boston University. During her college years she spent time in Spain and traveled throughout Europe.

Dr. Welch feels that West Chester University is a good place to teach because teaching is a priority. The administration tries to keep the class sizes small, although there is pressure to make them larger due to student demands. Dr. Welch states, "Unfortunately, we can't seem to hire enough professors to teach all the classes we need to offer."

An interesting aspect about Dr. Welch is her background in education. Being an environmental geographer has taken her many places.

Dr. Welch not only teaches a great deal but she also learns tremendously from her students, especially in history. Everytime she teaches her World Regional class, she learns something new. She believes strongly that student contribution and participation are the most interesting facets of teaching.

Dr. Welch feels that she has changed during her two years here at West Chester. She comments, "It takes a few years to settle into teaching. Change is the one thing that you can be sure is going to happen."

Dr. Welch

The School of Education

As one walks through the quad and faces west at the center, one will see Recitation Hall, where the School of Education resides. In this building one will find professors helping and guiding students to achieve their goal of becoming teachers.

There are various levels at which one can teach. These are at the early childhood, elementary, secondary, and special education levels. Each requires a different approach to instruction, because all children at various age levels are unique.

The School of Education, in general, contends that good teachers are developed from strong professional programs. A part of their professional growth involves the ways they help children interact with the curriculum in order to make learning the most productive experience possible. Knowledge of and ability to effectively use a variety of teaching strategies is a measure of competency that separates the master teacher from more limited colleagues. In an atmosphere of mutual respect between faculty and students, the program interrelates broad knowledge of the world and its people, child development and pre-professional experience. This department prepares future teachers to be competent decision makers.

The goals for the Early Childhood Education Program are that students demonstrate knowledge of theoretical, philosophical, and historical implications in the establishment of education programs; demonstrate knowledge of child development from ages 0 — 8; exhibit behaviors which foster learning environments suited to the development of cognitive, affective, and psychomotor abilities in young children; demonstrate leadership abilities necessary for the administration and supervision of programs for young children.

The goals for the Elementary Education Program are for the students to develop a broad background of knowledge and skills in professional and specialized fields; select and apply appropriate principles in the process of diagnosing needs; select, organize, evaluate suitable materials and methods of instruction in establishing a classroom learning situation; formulate a personal philosophy and display attributes and characteristics which reflect enthusiasm toward the teaching profession; demonstrate professional, ethical, and moral behavior.

The Department of Childhood Studies and Reading certifies teachers in either Early Childhood Education or Elementary Education. It allows the individual to teach in a parochial school organization, kindergarten through eighth grade.

The goals of Secondary Education are for students to provide for social and mental needs of the learners; provide for planning work in keeping with individual needs; select teaching and learning material suitable to the ability level and interests of individual learners; select and organize teaching materials; participate in teaching and management; handle "routine" discipline problems while providing a friendly, non-threatening learning atmosphere; insure learning by directly involving the learners physically and psychologically in the learning process; demonstrate a mastery at the content level in an academic area; intrinsically motivate learners to learn; develop effective procedures for collecting information about each learner; develop lesson plans designed to provide experience that insures learner growth; set examples in politeness, kindness, honesty, empathy, brother hood, and commitment to education; define objectives in terms of learner behavior; demonstrate measurement techniques that evaluate in terms of expected behavior; develop questions that lead learners to analyze, synthesize, and think critically; manage the class; keep records and make reports; and participate in classroom activity.

An applicant for a certificate shall have completed, in addition to all legal requirements, a program of teacher education approved by the State Secretary of Education, and shall have the recommendation of the preparing institution. The State Secretary of Education shall issue the Instructional Certificate to a person whose primary responsibility shall be direct contact with learners in teacher learning situations. This will allow a certified teacher to teach grades 7 — 12.

The special education curriculum is designed to produce a teacher who is clinically oriented with a foundation in normal growth and development and educational practices. The person will have been exposed to children between the ages 3 and 21 with mental and physical handicapping conditions ranging from mild to severe but is not necessarily equally proficient in all areas. Personal characteristics essential for adequate preparation and performance will include a minimal level of flexibility, receptivity, intellectual ability, physical stamina, and a focus on professional and realistic expectations.

Professor Spotlight

Dr. Charles Good is a professor of education and has been teaching here at West Chester since 1966. Dr. Good did his undergraduate work at Penn State University. He studied secondary education with the content of social science. He became interested in economics and thus went to the University of Pennsylvania. Because of financial problems, Dr. Good found a teaching job. He finished getting his doctorate at Temple University in education. He taught eight years of public school, was associated with NJEA, and for one year became a director of research, which he found extremely interesting because he was able to be involved with politicians.

After this, he came here to West Chester University, was a supervisor of student teachers, and taught part time in the areas of economics and education. Dr. Good commented, "Where else can you get paid to read books?"

In his spare time, Dr. Good participates in many activities. These include playing golf, reading spy novels, traveling, and he also enjoys "studying birds". Dr. Good also has two children, both of which are successful.

The one thing that Dr. Good likes about West Chester is the students. He finds them very polite and likes the personal atmosphere surrounding West Chester.

One thing that Dr. Good has noticed that has changed is the size of the college. Because of the larger size, the college is becoming less personal. He has also noticed a greater interest in teaching over the past couple of years. According to Dr. Good, this used to be a teacher's college, but now is a multipurpose institution.

The School of Health Sciences

The School of Health Sciences includes the Departments of Communicative Disorders, Health, Nursing, and Physical Education.

The Department of Communicative Disorders offers two programs leading to a bachelor's degree. It offers a B.A. in Communicative Disorders and a B.S. in Education in Speech Correction. The B.A. in Communicative Disorders is a preprofessional program that provides students with basic knowledge of human communication disorders. It prepares the student for graduate study in audiology, speech-language pathology, speech and hearing science, or related health sciences or communication fields. The B.S. in Education in Speech Correction also provides students with basic knowledge of human communication and communication disorders. It qualifies them for the Pennsylvania Instructional I certificate as well as preparing them for graduate study. After 1993 the B.S. will not be awarded, however, Level I Certification will be optional in the M.A. in Speech Pathology program.

The department also operates a speech and hearing clinic that serves as a teaching and training facility for the academic training program. The clinic is located in Wayne Hall and it provides services to students as well as people from the surrounding communities.

The Department of Health offers three programs leading to a Bachelor of Science Degree in Respiratory Care. The B.S. in Health Education prepares an individual to teach grade kindergarten through twelfth grade. There is a mandated examination to certify teachers in Pennsylvania. Upon passing this examination, the student will receive an Instructional Level I Certificate.

The B.S. in Public Health provides students with the competencies needed for a career in public health. Students who select this program will take a public health core of courses and select one of the following: Public Health promotion, Public Health - Environmental Health, or Public Health Nutrition.

The B.S. in Health Science gives professionals the chance to build on their technical education already received and to develop academic competency in a related field. It is also for students who have associate degrees in health areas like dental hygiene, respiratory therapy, occupational therapy, medical technology and cardiovascular technology.

Finally, the Associate of Science Degree in Respiratory Care is a program that satisfies the entrance requirement for the written registry exam and the clinical simulation examination given by the National Board for Respiratory Care. Completion of this program enables a student to become a registered respiratory therapist. These students may one day be employed by hospitals and home health care agencies.

The Bachelor of Science in Nursing is a degree offered by the Department of Nursing which is an integral part of The School of Health Sciences. The department of nursing believes that high quality health care is the basic right of all people.

The characteristics of the graduates are: an awareness of and sense of responsibility for contemporary health and social issues, advocacy for health care improvement, and accountability and competency in utilizing the nursing process to assist clients.

Finally, the Department of Physical Education is one which offers four programs leading to a Bachelor of Science Degree. The first program is the B.S. in Health and Physical Education Teacher Certification. This major is appropriate for obtaining state teaching certification. For this, as in any other major, the student needs to obtain 51 semester hours of general education requirements. They need to choose an area of concentration and three extracurricular experiences prior to student teaching. Certification is granted when Pennsylvania requirements are met.

The second program is the Bachelor of Science, Health and Physical Education Student with a designed concentration. This enables a student to prepare for a specific career that is related to health and physical education but does not require teaching certification. Before submitting a final proposal, students must have a 2.50 or better in pre-physical therapy and occupational therapy.

The third program is the Bachelor of Science, Health and Physical Education Physical Fitness Specialist. This is ideal for students interested in the exercise sciences. The program provides academic preparation for individuals who seek to plan and conduct physical fitness programs for adults.

Finally, the fourth program is a B.S. in Athletic Training. It prepares students to achieve certification from the National Athletic Training Association. It is for students who want to pursue careers in such fields as biomechanics, exercise physiology, physical therapy and adult fitness.

Professor Spotlight

For the past nine years, Dr. Jeff Harris has been a great part of the Health Department. He teaches nutrition and stress management and he is the advisor of the new nutrition department. His specialty is eating disorders.

Dr. Harris' first teaching job was here at West Chester and he has witnessed a lot of changes. He has seen the computer technology and capabilities of the university increase tremendously. He believes the quality of the research of the university has increased and this therefore increases the learning potential of the students.

The element of this university that Dr. Harris likes best is that teachers really teach, and they spend valuable time with the students, which he enjoys. The smaller classes gives teachers more intimate contact with their students.

Dr. Harris believes that his students like him very much. He is an effective teacher because he learns from his students, is open-minded, and is optimistic. His students know that he cares about learning new things and enjoys sparking their interest with a new subject.

Jeff Harris, the man, is a well-rounded man who likes to spend as much time as possible with his family. He enjoys sports and jogs on a regular basis. Dr. Harris is also very involved in his church as one of the elders. He has written two books on nutrition and continues his research on the subject as much as he can.

Dr. Jeff Harris is one example of the many wonderful teachers we have at the university and he is one of the reasons this university turns out so many successful and interesting men and women.

The School of Music

On University Avenue stands Swope Hall, which to an ordinary person passing looks like any other building on campus. However, if that person just happens to be listening around him, he would notice the splendid sounds of music being played by our own musicians inside these walls.

To the students of the School of Music, Swope Hall is more than just another building on campus, it is almost a second home. Music majors spend a great deal of their time in the soundproof practicing rooms where they can practice pieces for their next lesson or for a class. Another important part of Swope Hall is the music library, which is a division of the Francis Harvey Green Library. The music library contains the recordings and scores which are necessary to be able to learn such an art as music.

The School of Music, like any of the other schools on campus, has several different majors that all concentrate on teaching different aspects of music. There is composition, which teaches out future Beethovens how to create masterpieces. This involves the music technology lab. In this lab, computers are set up with keyboards to help write, record, and play musical pieces. The performance majors are those music students who study intently how to perform either vocal or instrumental pieces in front of large audiences.

The music history majors concentrate on learning how the art of music evolved from the most primitive kind of sound to where it is today. The music theory majors devote most of their time to learning how to analyze and understand the varying arrangement of music through different musical time periods. Those majors who concentrate on learning jazz and contemporary media learn how to be able to keep up with the current demands on today's musicians.

Music education majors are the most numerous of the music majors. They may concentrate on either vocal, instrumental, or general aspects of teaching music. These students must take both music classes and education classes. After passing the certification test, they will qualify to teach music to possible future West Chester music majors.

Along with spending their school days in Swope, music majors must attend eight recitals per semester to fill the requirement. These shows are performed by either professional artists or by the students themselves. There are quite a few groups that music majors must be in, but there are some groups that they may chose to be in. There are choruses, bands and ensembles that exist here.

There are three primary choruses. University Chorale is for students without much singing experience. Masterworks is for the more experienced vocalists. Concert Choir is mainly for voice majors, however, other accomplished vocalists may become members. Both Masterworks and Concert Choir require an audition in order to be involved.

The bands include the Marching Band, which travels to high school marching band shows in the fall to perform in exhibition. The Symphonic band, the Concert Band and the Wind Ensemble are the bands in which students, placed by ability, are exhibited in recitals in the spring.

There are ensembles such as the Brass Ensemble and the Percussion Ensemble that group students that play certain instruments or certain kinds of instruments. There are also ensembles like the Criteria and Close Harmony that play or sing a certain kind of music, like jazz.

There are also activities for music that music majors may join. Kappa Kappa Psi and Tau Beta Sigma are the Greek organizations for the members of the Marching Band whether they are music majors or not. Phi Mu Alpha and Sigma Alpha Iota are the Greek organizations for music majors only. So, for music majors it is not a question of whether or not to get involved. It is a question of what to get involved in.

Music is all around us everyday, and the students of the School of Music are working hard to be the ones making it professionally someday. The next time you pass Swope, listen closely to the sounds you hear because the musician playing them may be one you will hear in the future.

Professor Spotlight

Dr. Murray attended University of Michigan for undergraduate school and received his M.A. and his Ph.D from the University of Maryland. He has been teaching at West Chester for twenty years. He has two daughters, one eighteen and the other thirteen. His wife teaches piano at her own studio and is the president of The Pennsylvania Music Teachers.

Dr. Murray's area of expertise is musicology which is the study of music history. He has traveled most of Europe during his summers off, editing manuscripts of late eighteenth century music. He primarily studies Mozart works that have remained untouched since the eighteenth century. He wishes he could apply more of his research in his teaching. Dr. Murray says he can use some of it in graduate level courses but it is really only practical on the Ph.D level.

Three years ago, Dr. Murray established West Chester University's Oxford Program. The program takes place during WCU's summer post session at Manchester College of Oxford University (England). He enjoys the program a lot because the students and teachers get to interact quite a bit together. They are all housed in the same building and eat all their meals in the same dining facility.

Dr. Murray says interacting with students is the best part about teaching. He is in charge of The Gilbert and Sullivan Orchestra and is also the advisor to Phi Mu Alpha. He teaches mostly only music majors but recently he began teaching the interdisciplinary class, Form and Style in the Arts.

He says the class is very popular and all the sections usually fill quickly during scheduling. He finds the students in these classes to be receptive, interesting, and motivated.

STUDENT LIFE

surviving in the residence halls

He spots you from across a crowded room. Your eyes lock and you start walking towards each other. You meet in the middle of the dance floor. He takes your hands in his and says,.... BUZZZZZZ!

Oh no! It must be 6:30 a.m. — your alarm has just gone off. You hit the snooze button and try desperately to get back into that incredible dream. No such luck. You tumble out of bed and put on your bathrobe, grab your towel and shower supplies and head off to the bathroom. Of course the only one unoccupied is the one with the leaky knob that spurts ice cold water at you, and the drain that gets stopped up and leaves you standing in water up to your ankles. Such is life on Sanderson's 7th floor.

After showering, you get dressed and head over to the caf for breakfast with friends who live in Schmidt and Wayne. You eat your breakfast, gossip, and get in some last minute study time. You leave the caf with just enough time to get to your 8 o'clock class in Main Hall. Once you have struggled through an impossible essay test, you head on down to Main's auditorium for your Bio 100 lecture. After learning the difference between mitosis and meiosis you go over to the library to look up some info for a research paper. After spending a vision blurring hour in front of CHESTER, you walk to Sykes for lunch in the Ram's Head Deli. You take your food to your best friend's room in Killinger and get there just in time to catch the end of Santa Barbara.

When lunch is over you begin working on the Spanish assignment that is due at 2 o'clock. At this point all you can say in spanish is "No comprendo" and you decide to get some help. You call your friend who is an RA in McCarthy who just happens to speak fluent Spanish. You somehow manage to get through your class without getting called on, to show your appreciation you go to the Language Lab and get started on your next assignment.

It's almost 4 o'clock and time for your daily fix of Oprah. Today's topic: "I married my ex-wife's new mother — in — law." After such an intellectual hour you realize it's time for dinner. You make yourself a salad and get some chicken dish from Traditions (at least they said it was chicken). Following dinner you go over to Ramsey to visit with friends and watch Cheers. At 7 o'clock you travel next door to Tyson for a RHA program on self-defense techniques.

You spend the rest of the evening studying and goofing off with some classmates who live in Goshen. Then its back home to Sanderson in time to check out who the guests will be on Arsenio. No one worth staying awake for so you turn off the T.V. You get ready for bed and set your alarm. You turn out your light and go to sleep . . . perchance to dream!

living off-campus

Ah, freedom. No more curfews enforced by restrictive parents. No more hassels with RA's and rules in the residence halls. Just pure, unadulterated freedom. Yeah right. There are also no more home cooked meals. No more of Mom's Laundry Service. No more cleaning ladies to tidy the bathroom. Now instead of dealing with parents and RA's, your dealing with landlords and astronomical phone bills.

When you lived at home, Mom cooked real food for dinner every night (when was the last time she served PB&J's four nights in a row?).

She also did your laundry, never letting you out of the house in a wrinkled shirt. But at home you also had to play Twenty Questions as you walked the door. "Where are you going?" "Who are you going with?" "How are you getting there?" "Don't forget your curfew!" Give a little, get a little.

Then you went away to college and got a taste of semi-freedom in the residence halls. True, you no longer had a curfew but there were other things to deal with, like quiet hours and Robo-RA, who always seemed to be on rounds whenever you decided to have fun.

Then you took the giant step of getting an apartment off-campus with a group of friends. This is the one sure way of finding out just how good of friends they really are. After moving in and fighting over who gets the bigger bedroom, you realize just how much is involved with "total freedom." Grocery shopping: who goes?, who pays?, how much? Laundry: at this point you realize most clothes can be worn more than once before being considered dirty, the one major exception is of course underwear.

You can go wherever you want, whenever you want. You can come home as late as you please, or not at all. And of course now you can throw the greatest party in college history, whereas in the residence halls you might have been written up just for mentioning the word "party". But every once in awhile, usually when the rent is due, you begin to think that maybe it wasn't all that bad living at home or in the residence halls, that living on your own isn't all it's cracked up to be. NOT!

the role of non-traditional students

Her name is Dawn Layman and she is what the University considers a "non-traditional" student. A "non-traditional" student is one who is over 25 years of age and pursuing a degree. Dawn is definitely "non-traditional" and not just because she meets the age requirement. Besides the demands entailed with being a student, Dawn also works approximately 60 hours a week as a police officer.

She is a 1984 graduate of Lincoln Academy located in Newcastle, Maine. She is currently a Criminal Justice major having switched over from the Health/Physical Education Department. She is now only eight classes away from graduating and plans to continue her education and obtain a masters degree.

Dawn divides her 60 hour work week between West Chester University's Public Safety Department and the East Fallowfield Township Police Department. After getting her degree, Dawn would like to get a full-time position in either a municipal police department or in the State Police. That would seem to be a natural career path for Dawn to follow considering that her father, uncle and cousin are all troopers in the New Jersey State Police.

Dawn's dedication to her careers, both academic and professional, is to be admired. One could only hope that all police officers were as well educated as Dawn and that all students were as dedicated. Just knowing that she is patrolling our campus should make us all feel that much safer.

making it to class on time

You see them everywhere. In your classes. In the cafeteria. In the library. In Sykes. There is only one place where you won't see them. In the residence halls.

Who are these people? They are commuter students. They live at home somewhere off campus. They drive or take the bus to school everyday and spend their free time in between classes in the above mentioned places.

Some don't like having to hang out between classes. They would much rather schedule their classes all in a row (good luck!) and then go home or to work. Others don't mind having some time in between classes. It gives them an opportunity to study and get some homework done. Or they can take the time to socialize with their fellow students or they can just plain relax.

For those who really want to get involved there are organizations like the OCSA (Off Campus Student Association) for them to join. There are dozens of sports teams to try out for and numerous other clubs open to all students, like the Serpentine (plug) or SGA (Student Government Association).

No matter where you live, whether it's at home with Mom and Dad, or in your own place, there are plenty of activities to occupy the time of the many commuter students who attend West Chester University.

UPTOWN

spending the day in West Chester

It is a beautiful, sunny Saturday afternoon. You are sitting around with a few of your friends trying to decide what to do. First you check the T.V. Guide. You have your choice of watching professional bowling or Godzilla vs. Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles. Decisions, decisions.

Then as if from out of nowhere someone suggests going for a walk into town. What a great idea! Why didn't anyone think of that sooner? You start your trek by going up Church St. heading for the shops on Gay St.

The first stop is The Mad Platter where you can check out everything from The Beatles to The Cure. From there it is on to Woolworths, the store no college town should be without. In here you pick up a sewing kit, even though you know that you will never actually use it, you can at least tell your Mom that you have one. You spend a few minutes playing with the parakeets in the back of the store, pay for your things and then your on your way. Next stop, Rite-Aid for the all important hairspray, gum and the latest issue of Cosmo. By now you have been out and about for quite a while. Someone says they are hungry, and now, so is everyone else. But where do you go? You can walk down High St. and go to Burger King or you could continue down Gay St. and go to Skolniks. That sounded like a good idea until someone pointed out that Hilary's is right across the street and the temptation to go in for dessert would be just too great. Then you come up with the perfect solution: Food Works! So you walk down Gay St. for a few more blocks, stopping along the way to do some window shopping. You make a mental note to stop in Paige's and get your roommate a really funny birthday card.

After devouring the huge sandwich you ordered at Food Works, you start the long walk back home (and also walking off all those calories). You get that birthday card for your roommate and the next thing you know you are standing in front of Hilary's. No! You won't go in, you're going to be good and stay on your diet. "Why bother," someone comments, "its already been blown at Food Works." So you decide "What the hell? How much harm could one waffle cone with double chocolate fudge ice cream with chocolate sprinkles do?" (Don't answer that!)

You start to walk back home again, enjoying your ice cream and the company of your friends. Although it got off to kind of a slow start, it turned out to be a pretty good day after all.

barely making cents

Cash. Bucks. Bread. Moulah. Greenbacks. No matter what you call it, it means the same thing: MONEY! None of us have it. All of us want it. Lots of it. But where do you get it?

From Mom and Dad? Possible, but not very likely. From Ed McMahon? Again highly unlikely. So what's a poor college student supposed to do for money? The answer is simple. It's those three little words that strike fear into the hearts of unsuspecting college students: GET A JOB!

Although sometimes easier said than done, the West Chester area offers a wide variety of money making opportunities for eager students. In down town West Chester, not far from campus, there are job available at Domino's pizza, Burger King, Rite-Aid, and Woolworth's. Not to mention the many restaurants located within walking distance of the University. There is also Inter-Media Marketing, a local telemarketing firm located only a block off campus.

For those students lucky enough to have access to a car there are many job opportunities available in the surrounding townships. There is the Exton Square Mall, the Court and Plaza at King of Prussia, and the Granite Run Mall. There is also QVC, the home-shopping network that is based nearby in Exton.

But why bother going out of your way for a job when there are quite a few available right here on campus. There are jobs available in the library, and with Public Safety. You could also possibly work in the cafeteria, in the Ram's Head Deli located in Sykes, at Lawrence Take-Out or in the Campus convenience store.

Students get part-time jobs for a variety of reasons. Some have to work in order to pay for tuition, books, rent, food and other necessities. Others work in order to have some extra spending money or to save up for something special. No matter what your motivation is for getting a part-time job nothing beats the feeling of getting that paycheck. And just think how happy your parents will be when you no longer have to ask them for money every week. They may be so overjoyed that they decide to give you the money anyway. NOT!

making the most of spring break

It's March. Rain. Snow. Cold. Just plain BLAH! and you have a major case of the Winter Blues. There is however one bright spot. SPRING BREAK! One week of nothing to do but relax and have fun. Unless of course you have one of those sadistic professors who assigns a research paper due the day you get back.

Where you decide to do your relaxing and having fun can have an effect on just how much relaxing and how much fun you will be having. The most popular Spring Break get away spots are in Florida. Whether you go to Daytona or Fort Lauderdale you are practically guaranteed to have a good time. There is plenty of sunshine, sand, half-naked members of the opposite sex, and alcohol (for those over 21 of course).

But Florida isn't the only place you'll find college students spending their Spring Breaks. Over the last few years, more and more students have been flocking to more exotic and tropical locations. Some of these include Cancun, the Bahamas, Jamaica, Hilton Head and Myrtle Beach. Of course the most economical of all Spring Break destinations is spending the week at the Mom and Dad Hilton.

If you spent your vacation baking on a beach or shivering in a city, it really wouldn't make much of a difference as long as you were having a good time. After all, isn't that what Spring Break is all about?

RESULTS

and the survey says

You've cast your ballots. You've told us who your favorites are. But how many of your fellow classmates agreed with you? Well the results are in and the votes have been tallied. And the winners of the Serpentine Senior Survey are...

In the category of favorite Actor KEVIN COSTNER won big over his nearest competitor Mel Gibson. The situation was very similar in the favorite Actress category with DEMI MOORE beating out Michelle Pfeiffer nearly two to one.

It was somewhat closer in the Movie category with THE SILENCE OF THE LAMBS edging out Robin Hood to take the title. In the category of favorite T.V. Show the voters expressed their feelings that "they just don't make them like they used to" and voted the long running hit comedy CHEERS as their favorite.

The young and restless WCU seniors must have seen a guiding light that led them, not to Santa Barbara, but to vote for DAYS OF OUR LIVES as their favorite soap opera. OPRAH WINFREY was voted overwhelmingly as the seniors favorite T.V. Personality, beating out Al Bundy and Bart Simpson, her nearest competitors.

The favorite Male Singer category looked as if it was going to be a close call for a while but in the end PHIL COLLINS was proven to be victorious. The race was even closer in the favorite Female Singer category. Madonna and Mariah Carey were running neck and neck with MADONNA finally winning by a mere THREE votes.

The closest race of all was in the category of Favorite Band. It was in this category where the most diversity was shown. There were votes cast for the Rolling Stones, Smashing Pumpkins and every band in between. The final results however pronounced GUNS N' ROSES as one vote winners over THE CURE.

With his February 1991 appearance still fresh in the minds of many WCU students, STEVEN WRIGHT was the big winner in the category of favorite comedian. And MICHAEL JORDAN flew to the top of the polls was overwhelmingly voted as favorite Sports Personality.

Well there you have it folks. The winners of the 1991-92 Serpentine Senior Survey. How many of your choices ended winners?

MAKING

History

I used to think there was nothing to do at WCU, until my friends told me otherwise. Rick told me about Innovations and the great comedians, such as Marty Putz.

Lauri told me about all the blockbuster movies she has seen, like Robin Hood. Beth told me about all the interesting lectures that she has heard. Not too long ago she heard Sally Ride speak about the space program. Jamey told me about the concerts at Swope.

Last week he saw John Faddis, an excellent jazz trumpetist. Bob told me about the drama productions she has seen, such as "Tea for Two."

Whether it is Spring Weekend, Homecoming

Weekend, or no special weekend at all there is always something to do.

So little time, so many

West Chester University's Homecoming 1991 was a day filled with excitement. This year's theme was "What's Up WCU?" and the festivities included the annual parade and football game against Lock Haven University.

Over 800 people were present that morning for the parade, which started at 10 a.m. on Rosedale Avenue, traveled through town and finished in front of the Old Library, where the judging took place. A total of 38 groups participated. Sanderson Hall's "The Flintstones" float took first place, followed by Pi Kappa Phi's rendition of "Popeye," with Delta

Zeta sorority capturing third with their theme of "Ghostbusters."

Both the West Chester University marching band and the Alumni marching band performed in the parade. Their music dazzled the crowd of students, parents, alumni, and children.

David Rosario and Tori Dillard, of the Black Student Union were announced Homecoming King and Queen immediately following the parade.

The West Chester University Golden Rams suffered a loss against Lock Haven University in the afternoon's football game with a final score of 13-7.

Brian's Run

West Chester University helped to sponsor the 14th annual Brian's Run on Sunday, December 8, 1991. Brian's Run began in 1978 as a fundraiser for Brian Bratcher, a West Chester Henderson football player. Bratcher was paralyzed from the neck down after an injury he sustained during a football scrimmage. Today, the race continues to provide benefits for victims of spinal injuries.

Bill Taylor and Elaine

Van Blunk were the men's and women's 10K winners respectively. Taylor completed the race in 29:19. He started off the run in the lead pack, but fell off in the pace. He had to come from behind to capture the victory. Taylor was the first American to win the men's title since 1985. Re-breaking her own women's record which she set in 1990, Van Blunk led the women for the entire race with a time of 33:01.

African American History Month

The month of February, 1992 brought many inspiring activities and speakers to our campus. The West Chester community came together to celebrate African American History Month. Representatives participating in this month's events were: Henderson High School, East High School, Black Ministerial Alliance-West Chester, Stetson Middle School, UCIC, Student Programming Office, SAC, OCSA, Office of Residence Life, Committee of 16, Greek Life, Gospel Choir, Black Student Union, SGA, and the Quad. There were many events paying tribute to the tremendous contributions of African Americans. There was everything from literature exhibits, forums, and lectures to a trip to The African American Art Museum in Philadelphia. Entertainment included comedian/ventriloquist Pete Michaels at Innovations, lunchtime in Sykes with comedian Eddie Clark, the acapella group ALL FOUR FUN, and the Martin Luther King Scholarship Dinner Dance sponsored by the Black Student Union.

On Wednesday, February 26, 1992 West Chester University was honored with the visit of the Rev. Jesse Jackson. He delivered an inspiring message of hope, history, and honesty to a full house in Philips Auditorium. According to Jackson, caring enough to get involved and sharing the burden of responsibility to find solutions for society's problems will make a difference.

Sykes Union was filled with uplifting harmonies on Thursday, February 27, 1992. This was the fifth annual tribute to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. The theme for this year's program was "Dr. King — his meaning for the '90's". The keynote speaker, Rev. George Leon Blount, Jr. from the Greater Whitelock Baptist Church, spoke about King's famous speech and how it applies to today's society.

Greek Week

Greek Week 1992 was certainly filled with fun and excitement for the fraternities and sororities of WCU. The theme was "Greek Olympics."

The week was kicked-off on Sunday, April 5 with opening ceremonies in which the Greeks hung their banners in the cafeteria.

The Greek skits were staged on Tuesday in Philips Auditorium. Zeta Beta Tau placed first for the fraternities and Alpha Phi won for the sororities.

The Greek Song competition was held on Wednesday in Sanderson Court. Again Zeta Beta Tau captured first for the fraternities and Phi Sigma Sigma took the gold for the women.

On Saturday, all participated in the Greek Games. By the end of the day, Theta Chi and Phi Sigma Sigma emerged victorious.

The week was concluded with the Greek award ceremony where various recognitions were distributed. The Greek Goddess Award was captured by Catie Nahill of Alpha Phi. Kyle Stark of Pi Kappa Phi was announced the Greek God.

NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt

Cleve Jones originated the AIDS Quilt in 1986 after the death of a close friend. He wanted to make people understand the loss that he and others felt about AIDS. Today, the Quilt includes more than 14,000 individual, three-by-six foot memorial panels. It is shown only in its entirety in Washington, D.C. By organizing and displaying the Quilt, the goals of the NAMES Project are to: illustrate the enormity of the AIDS epidemic, provide a positive means of expression for those whose lives have been touched by the epidemic, raise funds and encourage support for people living with HIV/AIDS and for their loved ones.

The AIDS Quilt was displayed in Sykes Union on April 22 to April 24. During these days, many students, faculty members, and community members passed through to view the memorial. All who witnessed it were touched by its messages.

Cabaret

The "sexsational" musical Cabaret, performed in the Spring of '92, was a joint effort between the Theatre Department and the School of Music. Cabaret portrays the political and social aspects that affected the people living in Germany during the pre-World War II period.

"WILLKOMEN!" is how the Emcee, played by entertaining Clinton Jackman, welcomed you to an evening of excellent music, dancing, and propositions at the outrageous Kit Kat Club. The Kit Kat Club was the typical kind of night club that could be found in Germany during a time when people needed a place to escape from their problems.

Dawn Carusi (Fraulein Schneider) and Cameron Francis (Herr Schultz) gave an excellent performance of an older couple that falls in love, but can never be together because of their religious backgrounds.

Mark Everett also gave a terrific performance as "Clifford Bradshaw," an American writer that falls in love with "Sally Bowles," portrayed by Vicky Verdone. Sally Bowles is a singer at the club where she meets Clifford. The two fall in love, but when he decides to return to America, she refuses to leave with him, breaking both of their hearts.

The orchestra, which is only seen twice, added an extra special touch to the excitement of the show. Jamey Strawn, a junior music major, not only was the associate musical director, but also arranged additional music for the show.

The crew, who can not go unmentioned, only had approximately four weeks to construct the entire set of Cabaret. Although they had a short period of time, the crew did a wonderful job of portraying the cabaret-like setting.

With the help of nearly 80 students and approximately 10 staff members, Director Harvey Rovine was able to assemble a wonderfully entertaining musical based on the play by John Van Druten.

Spring Weekend

No-Frills was the theme for this year's Spring Weekend. It started on Friday, April 24, 1992 with the campus-wide Spring Gala.

Hollinger gym was packed on Saturday for the annual Carnival. The dreary weather outside did not dampen West Chester University students' spirits! All afternoon there were plenty of fun games and activities to participate in.

You could find everything from a ring toss to pitching cages to the velcro Fly Trap! Many spent their money trying to win a Spring Weekend No-Frills t-shirt.

On Sunday, bands once again rocked Hollinger as Spring Weekend came to a close. The crowd cheered for performers such as the ever-popular "The Flamin' Caucasians."

Dance Production Workshop

This year Dance Production Workshop celebrated its sixteenth year of dance performances. Originated in 1974, its first three performances were held in Swope Auditorium and moved into Philips Auditorium in 1977. Originally known as "The Performing Dance Group" of West Chester State College, DPW was founded with the purpose of giving our students an opportunity to seek, understand, and become involved in the various aspects of producing a dance concert. Besides performing, the students are responsible for choreography, costuming, lighting, etc.

During the fall semester, Barbara Lappano, director, and Todd Marocco, assistant director, chose about 45 male and female students out of nearly 100 auditioners. Throughout the winter months, the students prepared for the spring production. Long hours are spent stretching, learning, and repeating routines.

On April 30, the performers took the stage in Philips Auditorium. This year's show, "Hurray For Hollywood!" included a variety of dances, including ballet, jazz, tap, and modern. They utilized the music, theme, and characters from famous movies such as "Singing In The Rain," "Platoon," "Ghost," and "Batman."

The Year In Review

During the seven-month Iraqi occupation of Kuwait, more than 730 oil wells were damaged or set ablaze. When the effort of combat the blazes began in March, it took an average of four days to put out one well fire. Teams from the United States, Canada, China, Iran, Kuwait, Hungary and France all worked together to clean up this environmental disaster.

Desert Storm Commander General H. Norman Schwarzkopf gave a thumbs up to the crowd as he made his way up Broadway during New York's Operation Welcome Home ticker tape parade in June. A fireworks extravaganza topped off the celebration. Schwarzkopf, General Colin Powell and Defense Secretary Dick Cheney were the grand marshals of the New York parade, with over 600,000 people turning out to welcome the soldiers home. More than 1 million people attended a welcome home parade May 19 in Hollywood, and an estimated 800,000 turned out for the parade in Washington.

Both Croatia and Slovenia proclaimed independence on June 25, and within 24 hours, military tanks were rolling toward border crossings and airports, attempting to secure the country. Strong ethnic and political divisions have existed in the country for centuries, but the peaceful coexistence that has been maintained in the region for decades has splintered.

On July 11, 1991 the moon slipped over the sun in the celestial ceremony on the eclipse, turning day into night for thousands of viewers and scientists. About 500 astronomers and tens of thousands of tourists came to see the moon line up between the sun and Earth and plunge into darkness a 160-mile-wide swath stretching from Hawaii to Mexico's Baja Peninsula, central and southern Mexico, Central America, Colombia and Brazil.

Leaders of the world's seven largest industrial democracies began arriving in London on July 14 for the July 15-17 economic summit focusing on aid for the Soviet Union. Mikhail Gorbachev made a two-hour presentation to the leaders of the United States, Britain, Canada, France, Germany, Italy, and Japan that closely followed the 23-page letter he had sent to each of them the week before. By the close of the summit, the Group of Seven had offered Gorbachev technical assistance and a special association with the International Monetary Fund, but not the enormous economic aid he had sought. (Continued on page 79)

Don Mattingly received national attention in August 1991, for more than his baseball expertise. A flat refusal to get a haircut resulted in his being benched just before the New York Yankees' game against Kansas City. The hair-raising issue came to a close just days later when bullpen catcher Carl Taylor gave Mattingly a trim.

Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev and his family were placed under house arrest in the Crimea on August 19, as an eight-man emergency committee led by Vice President Gennady Yanayev took power in a coup attempt in the Soviet Union. The coup failed and before long, all coup leaders were arrested. Russian President Boris Yeltsin waved the white-blue-and-red Russian tricolor flag from the Russian Federation building before a crowd of about 100,000 jubilant supporters celebrating the end of the three-day coup attempt. Freedom has come to the Soviet Union.

On October 18, 1991 Clarence Thomas became the 106th United States Supreme Court Justice. A charge of sexual harassment was brought against him by law professor Anita Hill. Thomas vehemently denied the allegations and said, "This is Kafkaesque. Enough is enough." Although Thomas was confirmed, professor Hill insisted that by letting her story be known she had accomplished everything she set out to do. "All that's happened has made the general public much more aware of sexual harassment than ever before," said Hill.

Magic Johnson, whose beaming smile and sparkling play entertained basketball fans for more than a decade, announced on November 7, 1991, that he had tested positive for the AIDS virus and was retiring. "Because of the HIV virus I have attained, I will have to announce my retirement from the Lakers today," Johnson told reporters at the Forum, where he played for 12 superstar seasons with the Los Angeles Lakers.

Terry Anderson emerged on December 4, 1991 from the dark hole of six and a half years of captivity in Lebanon and was handed over to U.S. officials. Asked what had kept him going in captivity, Anderson, the chief Middle East correspondent for The Associated Press, said it was his companions, his faith and his stubbornness. He was the 13th and last American captive freed since the Shiite extremists in 1984 launched a campaign of seizing foreigners in Lebanon. The freedom of Anderson marked the end of a hostage saga that has haunted two American presidencies.

LEAVING YOUR Mark

Deciding on an organization to join can be a difficult decision to make because there are over 170 possible choices. Do you pledge a sorority or a fraternity or do you join the yearbook or newspaper staff? Or would you rather join SAC, SGA or both? Will you have time for both? What about RHA? How about the psychology club or the philosophy club? Then again, there is always marching band and concert band. Or the WCU theatre. How about BSU or SNAP? How will I ever decide? WCU just offers too many

ACTIVITIES

Governing Greek Councils

Inter Greek Council

The Inter-Greek Council unites the greek community, bringing together the fraternities and the sororities. Inter-Greek Council is involved in service projects that show commitment to both the University and the community. Among the activities sponsored are Homecoming and Greek Week.

Panhellenic Council

The Panhellenic Council was founded here at West Chester University in 1978. Panhel consists of members of WCU's women's fraternities. Panhel is the equivalent to the Inter-Fraternity Council on the sorority scene. Among the activities sponsored were assisting the Women's Center, and safety awareness week.

Order of Omega

The Theta Sigma Chapter of the National Order of Omega was chartered at West Chester University on March 3, 1988. The order was formed to recognize those fraternity and sorority members who demonstrate outstanding leadership qualities and service to the entire greek system. Membership in the Order of Omega is also open to faculty and staff who have shown exceptional support of the greek system. They focus and discuss the needs of women students and women's concerns within the university community and in general, the world. They sponsor many important activities on campus such as violence against women day, many different topical seminars, and interesting brown bag lunch speakers and discussions.

Innovations

Innovations is West Chester University's own non-alcoholic night club. It is completely staffed by University students. Every other Thursday night and on some special occasions Innovations entertains using the newest music and the hottest comedians. Students can dance the night away from 9 P.M. to 1 A.M. with a brief interruption for one hour at ten o'clock for the comedian. Their slogan is "Innovations: A Unique Concept in Entertainment." Innovations, although only in their second year, has successfully continued the tradition of an alternative form of entertainment by providing an interesting way for students to spend their Thursday nights. They follow in the footsteps of an earlier non-alcoholic club called Cheers. In just a few short hours, the staff magically transforms the Ram's Head Deli into a modern dance club. This fun-filled atmosphere creates an escape from the everyday frustrations of life here at West Chester University. Campus life would not be the same without the affordable and accessible entertainment which is provided by the staff of Innovations. Hopefully, the staff of Innovations will entertain this college community for many years to come.

Ramming Ahead

Head Coach Rick Daniels and team captains, Ken Lomax, Brian Costantino, and Jim Smink led the 1991 WCU Football Team to a mediocre 6 and 5 season. This was the first time WCU lost 5 games in a season since 1979. Although their final record looks average to say the least, the team tallied a number of achievements. On October 7, 1991 WCU Football took the 18th spot of the NCAA Division II top 20. This achievement stemmed from their victory against 12th ranked Millersville, WCU was ranked second in the ECAC Division II poll after the upset dealt to Millersville. The team also carried a 5 game winning streak after a loss to Division I Delaware.

Individual achievements

also accumulated during the season. Quarterback Ed Spurka was named the ECAC Division II Player of the Week, twice. He also was named the PSAC Eastern Division Player of the Week, twice. He was the first WCU player to earn the honor in two seasons. Lee Woodall was named ECAC Division II Defensive Player of the Week for his performance against Millersville. This season was the 12th straight winning season for the RAMS which in itself is an accomplishment. Although the overall record left a bit to be desired, there were moments when the team did shine. Losing only 9 seniors, 1992 looks to be quite spectacular! We know you'll be Ramming Ahead again next season.

GOLF

Fore!

Starting off their regular season in Fall of 1991, the men's golf team was looking good. Returning senior Ray Ford had leadership skills to teach the younger members how to succeed. While leaving 1991 behind them and a former head coach, Jack Trezise, the team entered the '92 season with several key players.

The men started off well, and they fired a four-man season-low score of 325 at the Millersville Invitational, taking 3rd and having their best showing of '92. Previously at Shippensburg, the Rams placed 11th while Ford launched a 77 to finish 5th overall. Brian Kaufman had his best outing at Millersville where he scored an 80. Sophomore Darren Harle scored 87 at Shippensburg showing his contributions to this young squad. However, for coach Quinlan the best performance was at Lock Haven, where the Rams produced a 2nd place score of 323. Quinlan also received back-to-back solid outings from Ford along with great showings from Joe Natale and Kaufman.

Coach Quinlan couldn't have asked for a better team to coach as they finished 7th in the PSAC Golf Championships on April 27th and 28th. Senior captain Ray Ford finished 4th overall highlighting a superb season for him and the rest of the Rams.

FIELD HOCKEY

Gaining Our Rank

One of the symbols of pride at WCU is our women's field hockey team. It is one of two teams here at WCU which is in the NCAA Division I. The team is coached by Kathy Kranebitter, who is a former WCU graduate-1982 and former field hockey player.

Head Coach, Kranebitter was looking forward to improving last year's 1990 record of 8 -11. One of the team's challenges this year would be scoring. But Kranebitter looked toward the scoring line of seniors Carol Norton, and Rose O'Donnell and junior Traci Fisher to add to the offense. "We have a lot more experience and a lot more depth," the coach said. "It's just a matter of finding the right chemistry."

As the season progressed, Kranebitter achieved her goal of improving last year's record and then some. The team finished with a 10-7-3 record. The LADY RAMS became nationally ranked. By beating the 20th ranked team Delaware and the Maryland squad ranked 3rd, our field hockey team earned a ranking of 11.

As the team continued to make head waves through the Division I schedule "let down" was the last thing on their minds. Once the team played Rutgers and won, it proved a celebration as they entered into the NCAA Division I Top 10.

After receiving word that they had broken into the Top 10, the LADY RAMS wanted to prove they belonged. After the team traveled to Michigan they came back ranked 8th, which was quite an accomplishment. Finally the team was able to participate in the EAC Division I and they finished 18th in the nation.

According to junior Traci Fisher, "It was a very emotional season with many ups and downs." "There was a certain thrill in beating teams of national rank and then a sense of emptiness when we lost to weaker teams," said senior Carol Norton. Both agreed that it was different being on the road for almost a whole month making their rank.

Making The Goal

Kendall Walkes ended his season as Head Coach of the WCU Men's Soccer Team with a 10-9-1 record improving from last year's 4-15-3 record. Returning for the RAMS were seniors Marc Rich, Art Moody and juniors Adam Smith, and Robert Donohoe. Coach Walkes was relying on these top veterans to pull together a younger and less experienced squad.

Due to injuries early on in the season to key players, many younger members got a chance to prove their stuff. Goal keeper Chris Nicoll and forward/midfielder Dave Ammon proved to be valuable assets, while several others set personal goals. Even though the team began to work together, their record after 13 games was 4-8-1, and they needed to get back on track. A strategy developed by Coach Walkes opened the RAMS to a 6 game winning streak. And on November 2nd, the RAMS crushed IUP 4-0 therefore gaining a PSAC play-off berth. The last time the soccer team made the play-offs was in 1986 as a wild card.

The RAMS headed to ESU to face their conference rival. Art Moody excited that the RAMS were headed to the play-offs stated, "We have finally realized our potential. We're playing as a team. However ESU will be after us because we gave them their only loss." And that's exactly what happened, as the RAMS fell 3-0. Even though WCU lost, the team gained some good experience that will help them next season. Senior Ron Schnabel commented on the team by saying that, "A lot more team unity this year resulting in more confidence in each other on the field gave us a better winning record."

The RAMS will be losing 7 seniors but due to the many young freshmen and sophomore players, the 1992 team might take WCU Soccer a step farther in making their goal.

VOLLEYBALL

Spiking To Victory

Under Head Coach Maureen Larkin, the WCU Women's Volleyball Team finished their 1991 season with a 10-16 record. The team was very doubtful in Sept. when only six girls came out, but emergency tryouts gathered a few more to allow them to play. Team captain Tara Derstine was an outstanding leader and led the team in morale. Her personal record as a setter totaled over 680 set assists with numerous aces and digs. She was also named to the PSAC Honor Roll in early Oct. Laura Sommesse, a junior outside hitter, also had an excellent season for the LADY RAMS. Personally she had over 130 digs and over 190 kills along with a PSAC Honor Roll title and named PSAC East Player of the Week in Nov. Following in her footsteps was sophomore middle hitter Maria Darczuk who too was named to the PSAC Honor Roll early in the season. Personally Maria had approximately 110 digs and 190 kills. Although Tara will be missed Laura and Maria have good personal marks to help with the winning tradition of the LADY RAMS.

Although the top 3 players seemed to stand out in the spotlight, several new and younger squad players provided a more together team. Allison Callahan, Dawn DeGrange, Patty Cornelius, Mary Ann Henry pulled the team together as a whole and opened up personal chances for them. Coach Larkin committed by saying, "We have a group of dedicated girls."

CROSS COUNTRY

Reaching The End

This year's Cross Country Team had its share of ups and downs during its injury ridden season, but overall it fared well against some top notch competition. The team's guidance throughout it's season came under the direction of their new Head Coach Kevin Kelly, a 1986 West Chester graduate. While neither team competed with its full complement since the first meet, the girls and guys have fared well in competition and showed much improvement as the season progressed.

As the season moved along towards the 1991 PSAC Championship, the men's team was shooting for 6th place. Yet after the meet, the team had finished 7th, and the women's team secured 9th. According to Kevin Kelly, "Both teams competed well and improved upon last year's finishes."

Finally the team came upon the 1991 NCAA Division II regional meet. The men's team had been aiming for 10th place, but they finished with a strong 12th. And the women came up with a surprising and welcomed 15th place finish. "We were hoping to place higher, but the race turned to be faster than we predicted," commented senior Rob Jones, the teams top runner. Number 2 runner, senior Bryon Relyea said, "that the team has come a long way since last year and the improvement can be attributed to coach Kevin Kelly."

The girls will return all seven runners, so expectations are high, and for the men, Bob Crowley, Rob Jones, and Bryon Relyea will graduate. However they have eight returning runners with plenty of varsity experience. "Overall, I'm pleased with the performance of both teams," Kelly stated, "they both improved up on last year's team places and have improved upon their times every meet." The WCU Cross Country teams are reaching their ends.

SWIMMING AND DIVING

Making a Tremendous Splash

Anything could of happened to this year's swim teams. Both teams were young with several new names and faces. The teams, through hard work, did better than expected under their head coach Jamie Rudisill.

WCU's swim teams had a long hard season starting back in September and through February. The team's competition is becoming increasingly harder because they are competing against more and more Div. I teams. Basically, they are competing for times and not wins. However, WCU does receive a break by competing against a Division III team now and then. The coach does not mind the harder competition because it gives his teams something to strive and train for.

The Lady RAMS ended their season with a 6-3 record. At the PSAC Championships they placed sixth. Their star swimmer was sophomore Tina Horn, who placed in the top three in almost every race. Tina went on to Nationals to compete for West Chester. As for the men, they finished with a 4-4 record and placed fourth at the PSAC Championships. With no seniors on this year's team everyone had to contribute, especially the seven freshmen, who helped make it a successful season. Captains Jeff Bott and Brian Booth were top swimmers. According to freshman Andrew Kane, "everything just went together to produce a good season, also everyone should be back next year for an even better one."

GYMNASTICS

Gracing the Stage

The '91-'92 Gymnastic team had several returning players to help them keep their strength and skill up under their head coach Sandy Thielz. This would be her 20th season as head coach of the WCU Gymnastic Team.

This year's team consisted of two seniors, Janet Canterbury, who came back from a broken foot last season, and

Lisa Discovich, who is the team's favorite and best all-around. Another key member is Missy Cook, a junior best all-around. The remaining team members are juniors Amy Ayers, Amy Fleming, Jyl Johnson, and Kerry Panich along with sophomore Angel Lafferty. Though experience is a key factor, Thielz expects her quartet of freshmen —

Michelle Charney, Staci Hudson, Lisa Mattea, and Monica Rhoten — to contribute high scores.

The team came through as each member pulled their own weight. There were minor slips and falls, but that comes along with the difficult nature of the sport. "Even though our record may not show it, the team did very well," said Ms. Thielz. "WCU's competition was difficult this year because they are competing against more and more Division III schools. The reason for that is because several gymnastic Division II teams are being dropped. Eventually WCU will be competing against Division I schools only."

Being her last season, Lisa Discovich was pleased. "This was the best season I ever had. I felt that I did exceptionally well, better than I expected." Janet Canterbury said, "As far as the team goes, this was the most talented in the four years that I have been here, along with the most potential." She expects next year's team to go far and regrets being a senior and not being able to continue with the team.

MENS BASKETBALL

Dunking the Ball

This year's Men's Basketball Team went into the season relying on many variables. The team lost five key players from last year but started this year with two new recruits and many returning veterans. These variables came through for coach Dick Delaney as the team made the playoffs again. With a record of 20-8, one may ask how there could have been any doubts.

Honors awarded this year included both PA and Eastern Conference recognition. Jeff Minnick received the PA State Athletic Conference East Weekly Honor Roll multiple times. He also received the Eastern College Athletic Conference Division II Weekly Honor Roll more than once. Rookie Damien Blair was awarded the PSAC East Rookie of the week. Jeff Minnick also passed the 1,000 career point plateau this his last year.

Everything was not all quite during the season. Senior Todd Neff, who was a leading scorer in 8 games and made the PSAC Honor Roll and the PSAC East Co-player of the week, left the RAMS midway through the season. Neff was an integral part of the program. For his career, Neff totaled 1,233 points in over 91 games. He broke the 1,000 point plateau as a junior, which earned him the eighth spot on the All-Time WCU scoring list. He also had 215 career 3 pointers which is a all-time WCU record. His 1990 game high 43 points is the second highest single game score at WCU. Neff's leave was felt by all but the RAMS had to go on and they stormed by opponents.

The team clinched a PSAC Eastern Division Playoff spot for the second straight year with the help of other key players. Chet Blair, Hosea Jackson, Billy Seedes and Harold Fisher all played extremely well and had help from the rest of the bench. WCU did not go on to finish in the number one spot, tough losses to ESU and California made the RAMS bow out early. But they shouldn't be disappointed, because they had their finest season ever.

M a k i n g t h e S h o t

Head coach Deirdre Kane created her own secret recipe this season. Her Lady RAMS ended with a 23-5 record which is the best ever for a WCU Basketball coach. Her ingredients came from senior co-captains Kristen Lee and Kate Grannetino, along with juniors Robin Minehart and Adelle Schade and key freshmen Margaret Rowell and Allison Long, along with a dash of role players. This secret recipe named Coach Kane the PA State Athletic Conference Women's Coach of the Year, and she also earned the title of PSAC East Women's Coach of the Year.

Several players were honored for outstanding performances during the season. Senior Kristen Lee earned a place on the PSAC Honor Roll and was named the Division II Women's Basketball Player of the Year. Also senior Kate Grannetino reached her 1,000 career point plateau and she is only the sixth RAM to do so. Two rookies appeared with extraordinary talents. Margaret Rowell was often named the PSAC Eastern Division Rookie of the Week and was put on the ALL-PSAC East Second Team. Allison Long was named to the ALL-PSAC East First Team and named the ECAC Division II and PSAC East Rookie of the Year.

Coach Kane showed confidence in her team and they wanted to give her their all. And they did, taking WCU to a 20-plus winning season, a PSAC Eastern Division title and a PSAC Final Four appearance. These were all school firsts, giving the girls a great way to end the season and a goal to set for next year.

CHEERLEADING

Showing Spirit

Cheerleading, though many do not realize it is a sport, it is indeed a sport in a unique way. It is a sign of dedication to others and at this school it shows. There are three squads involved here at WCU: the football cheerleaders, basketball cheerleaders and the dance team. It is not an easy job to please the fans, but these squads are fantastic at it. They stand by their teams even in the worst of times and always seem to bring the crowds to their feet. Without these dedicated students, there wouldn't be any spirit, and West Chester is all spirit. GO RAMS!!

BASEBALL

Hitting The Homer

West Chester University's other Division I team is the Men's Baseball team. This year's team had a successful season under head coach Carl Giuranna who has given the team numerous years of experience and guidance. The team was evenly split between new members and veterans which helped to direct the team in a positive direction. Senior catcher Steve Crounse, said "we have a strong nucleus of veterans who were excited to work hard and achieve higher goals than in the past."

The most interesting game of the season was against Textile during which the team won 42-1. WCU tied four NCAA records and broke one. The first record was hits allowed — Textile's pitching gave up 37 hits — breaking the previous record of 35 hits set by Southern Indiana in April of 1990. The second was runs allowed, giving up 42. WCU broke the Division I record for runs scored with 42. WCU tied Georgia Tech for the record of margin of victory of 41. The RAMS tied for the record on RBI's (team) (37) with NC State; total bases (74) with Eastern Kentucky. Their total of 37 base hits ties them for second with Campbell.

WCU is well represented among the Greater Philadelphia Area NCAA Division I leaders. The RAMS record is tops among the area's seven Division I teams. WCU is represented among batting leaders by seniors Steve Crounse, Jeff Walker, and Andy Robinson and junior Robert Kline. Fantastic Job RAMS!!

SOFTBALL

Batting Away

Last year's softball team struggled through a long season finishing 7-21 overall. Coach Sonya Wilmoth looked at this year as a rebuilding year. Seven of her players were returning and the rest came in fresh. Although the record did not show a winning season, Sonya Wilmoth appreciated the girls efforts.

Several key players served as important contributors throughout the year. Senior pitcher Kim Pierce played extremely well in the opening games. Junior Karen Taylor earned a PSAC Eastern Division player of the week honor and had an outstanding season for the Lady Rams. Traci Krapf, Jenn Eck, Amy Clymer and Pam Debus all came into the games with confidence to win.

The Lady Rams played difficult teams this season and were challenged in their positions. It was definitely a rebuilding season. Hopefully with the return of pitcher/outfielder Karen Taylor next year, the Lady Rams will go a long way in their Division.

WOMEN'S LACROSSE

Crossing The Styk

One of the oldest sports in America is Women's Lacrosse which was started by Native Indians. This sport requires speed and accuracy for success. Anxious was how head coach Kathy Krannebitter felt about this upcoming season. WCU Women's Lacrosse team rejoins the PSAC after competing as an independent from 1988-91.

"Most of the team is coming back," Krannebitter noted. Because so many of her lacrosse players were members of her field hockey team which produced an outstanding season in the fall, Krannebitter believes that success carried over into the lacrosse season. And the Lady RAMS used their defense to front their goalkeeper. Leading the defense was senior co-captains Joyce Maxwell and Ginger Detwiler. Though the defense boasts veteran leadership, the midfield is one area where the line-up had the least experience. Offensively, WCU had a productive season from scoring juggernaut

As a result of a lot of hard work and tremendous effort, the women's lacrosse team captured the PSAC Championships by beating Miller-Phillips 12-5. Attackers Erika Baker and Sarah Harris were named to the ALL-PSAC team. Also named was Niki Pergament, a tremendous defensive force for the RAMS. Nice comeback LADY RAMS!!

MEN'S LACROSSE

Checking A Player

Men's Lacrosse consists of speed, endurance and extreme body contact. WCU Men's Lacrosse team is unaccustomed to losing streaks. Since Bob Brinton took over in 1985, the team has had a 7 year winning record. However this year's season was a different story.

According to assistant coach, Jason McGee, "this season was rough. We lost a lot of players last year, so this is sort of a rebuilding year for us." High scoring belonged to freshman Trevor Harris and junior Paul Butala with 23 points each. As a team the effort was there, but the lack of experience was present. "With the recruits that we have coming, we should be right back on top next year," commented McGee. Also, the team jumped from Division III to Division II.

TRACK & FIELD

M a k i n g T r a c k s

"Both teams are deeper and more talented than a year ago and should greatly improve upon last years performance at the PSAC's," was what head coach Larry Larson said at the beginning of the season about the men's and women's track and field team this season.

This year for the men was three time All-American Matt Sandercock. He holds records in both indoor and cross country, and this season was no different. He qualified for the NCAA Division II National Championships for the sixth time in the past two years. His most recent qualifying standard came by virtue of posting a time of 30:25.50 in the 10,000m. Sandercock however is not alone, senior Fred McCray established the title of All-PSAC and has broken several other school and personal records. Other key seniors were Charles Burrage, Mike Smith, Kevin Matthews, Rick Pryor and Bryon Relyea.

On the women's side, freshman Lisa Schreppler qualified for PSAC's in the 5000m with a clocking of 18:35.5. Fellow classmate Cheylene Johnson set a personal record of 120-fee-9 in the discus. Stacy Hotham threw several times and earn a good 104-4 at the Penn Invitational. Diane McCool, Kathy Wood and Alison Callahan all ran well in the same meet. Several of the girls set personal highs as others strived to set new ones. Overall, both teams had a good season and are looking forward to the fall.

T E N N I S

Serving An Ace

Tennis is a recreational activity that many people enjoy. At WCU it is one of the favorite pastimes of students. When the weather is beautiful, every court is filled with energetic youths playing the game. But there is a side to tennis many do not see and that is competitiveness. At WCU we have both a men's and women's squad that are committed to that key word.

The girls reached the semi-final round of the PSAC Championships finishing 8th out of 14 conference teams. They did not make it to the finals but each girl contributed to make themselves known. Junior Allison Landis stated, "although the statistics might not show it, we are a much better team than last year." This only shows improvement for the future.

For the men's team, the season had its ups and downs. However, overall each player performed quite well. Senior Darren Kostival had tremendous matches. Several times he joined up with junior Greg Adams who posted several wins himself. They did advance to the PSAC Championships where they finished 3rd out of 16 teams.

Commencement

The Mark Of Excellence

On Saturday, May 16, 1992 the 119th Graduating Class gathered at Hollinger Field House for Commencement.

Remarks on behalf of Baccalaureate Candidates were presented by Claude Earl Taylor, a Speech Communications major from Asbury Park, NJ. He informed his fellow graduates that each one already has a job. "I've found work for each and every one of you. The job of a WCU graduate." He stated that the job involved taking the spirit of West Chester out into the world. Taylor urged them to remember the commitment to excellence they learned at this university.

In addition, the commencement address was given by Carson Carr, Jr., Associate Dean of Academic Affairs at the State University of New York at Albany. He is a 1958 graduate of West Chester who grew up in West Philadelphia. Carr told the audience that graduation is a time to reflect on the impressions you have made. Also, he encouraged the grads to do their best to build bridges to other cultures.

With the help of Francine G. McNairy, Interim Vice President for Academic Affairs, Dr. Yarosewick presented the candidates with their degrees. The Master's degrees were presented first and then the Bachelor's degrees.

The ceremonies were concluded with a joyful singing of the University's Alma Mater.

As the festivities of graduation day came to an end, seniors could fondly reflect on all they had learned and the friendships they had made. With all the encouragement of family and friends and the knowledge gained at this institution, graduates can be proud of their accomplishments.

Making It Up As We Go Along

The completion of the 1992 Serpentine was a tremendous task to which many individuals contributed. The entire staff spent countless hours writing copy, cropping photos, and creating layouts. In addition, we would like to express our gratitude to others who have assisted us in our production. Thanks to Michael Peich for his support and confidence in us; to Valerie Verdi and the photograppers of Carl Wolf Studios for capturing the personality of West Chester University in pictures; and to Tom Di-Camillo, Sports Information Director, for supplying us with scores and stats. Furthermore, thanks to Dave Timman, Mary Shaw, and the staff of Sykes Union for their cooperation in all of our endeavors.

for his guidance and valuable suggestions. He is the only person who can make us laugh through the worst of deadlines!

Lastly, and most importantly, thanks to the Graduating Seniors, you are the reason for this yearbook. Throughout your life we hope it brings you wonderful memories of your years at West Chester University.

Ellen Price completed the Student Life section. Ellen is a junior majoring in Criminal Justice.

Suzanne Albrich was the Copy Editor for this yearbook. She is a Nursing major who is interested in photography.

Patricia Ransom, Chris Simmon, and Michelle Garber were the editors of the Activities Section. Tricia is a sophomore majoring in Secondary Education. Chris is an active member of Campus Crusade for Christ. Michelle has been chosen to be the Editor-in-chief of the 1993 Serpentine.

Shanese Johnson, Kris Nielson, Jeanette Garrow, and Lisa Williams were the editors of the Academic Section. Shanese is Business Management major. Kris is a sophomore majoring in Mathematics Education. Jeanette is an English Literature major and Lisa is a Psychology major.
